Workday Ranks #7 on Fortune's List of 100 Best Companies to Work For

Workday's Success is Driven by Its Employee-First Culture

PLEASANTON, Calif., Feb. 15, 2018 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) --Workday, Inc. (NASDAQ:WDAY), a leader in enterprise cloud applications for finance and human resources, today announced that it has been named one of the100 Best Companies to Work For by Fortune and Great Place to Work. Workday ranked #7 on this year's list, which recognizes U.S. companies with exceptional workplace cultures. Appearing on the list for the fourth consecutive year, Workday currently has more than 7,900 employees who have helped the company achieve a customer satisfaction rating of 98 percent.

Since day one, Workday's founders understood that a strong corporate culture would serve as the foundation for the company's success. In order to build a company that would revolutionize the enterprise software market, they focused on recruiting, rewarding, and retaining the very best people. To do this meant fostering an employee-first culture where people are valued, heard, inspired, encouraged to bring their full selves to work, and committed to customer success.

"Being recognized as one of the top 10 best workplaces by*Fortune* and Great Place to Work is a testament to our culture and our incredible employees," said Aneel Bhusri, co-founder and CEO, Workday. "We believe a supportive and inclusive workplace is the key to great products, happy customers, and an enduring company. Our employees have always been our top priority, and we will continue to invest in our people and culture as we grow."

The recognition by Fortune follows other honors Workday has received as a top workplace in the U.S. and Europe in the past year, including being named:

- #2 on Fortune's Best Workplaces in Technology list
- #1 Top Workplace in the Bay Area for large companies for the seventh consecutive year by the Bay Area News Group
