

Workday Wellness Named a 2025 Top HR Product of the Year by HR Executive

AI-Powered Solution Transforms Employee Benefits Experience and Optimizes Well-Being Programs

PLEASANTON, Calif., Aug. 11, 2025 /PRNewswire/ -- Workday, Inc. (NASDAQ: WDAY), the AI platform for managing people, money, and agents, today announced that Workday Wellness has been recognized as a Top HR Product of 2025 by HR Executive. This award recognizes Workday Wellness for helping organizations better understand the impact of their benefits programs and adapt their offerings to meet the needs of their workforce.

Workday Wellness is an AI-powered solution that will connect employers with a curated ecosystem of leading wellness providers and workplace benefit carriers, including Benepass, Guardian, Lincoln Financial, MetLife, Mutual of Omaha, Prudential, Sun Life, The Hartford, Unum, and Voya. This connection will enable organizations to gain insights into which benefits their employees want and use, so they can improve programs and efficiently add new offerings. For employees, Workday Wellness will remove friction by making it easier to discover, access, and engage with benefits that support their holistic well-being – across physical, mental, financial, and social health.

"Organizations often lack clear insights when making decisions about benefits, leading to underuse and missed opportunities to effectively support their workforce," said Cristina Goldt, general manager, HCM, workforce management, and payroll, Workday. "Workday Wellness will empower HR and benefits leaders with actionable, AI-powered insights that will help ensure programs truly resonate with employees and deliver tangible ROI."

The annual Top HR Products competition, organized by HR Executive and HR Tech, is designed to showcase a range of notable solutions introduced over the last year. Reviewed by a panel of esteemed judges, each product submission is evaluated based on its level of innovation, value added to the HR function, overall user experience, ability to deliver on its promises and effective integration, customization and analytics capabilities. Winners will be honored on Monday, September 15, 2025, during the inaugural HR Icons Awards Evening at HR Tech 2025, being held at Mandalay Bay in Las Vegas.
